As the saying goes, life is meant to be lived out loud, which all our MV Stars know how to do. Their sexuality is unapologetic, their style is completely their own and they aren't afraid to step out of the shadows to show the world the amazing people they are.

"Sublime," is literally the only adjective appropriate to describe the outstanding and majestic heights we reach with latex legend Bianca Beauchamp's fierce photoshoot. Bianca shows us that her star power burns as brightly as her look.

Angel DeLuca's been ruling it for a decade in the industry and is still continually blossoming!! In Bloom she unites delicate color with scintillating sexuality and demonstrates exactly why she has adult biz staying power.

And it's certainly no secret that VixenVu is a natural. Her bright smile and breathtaking body capture attention even in monochrome. So, get lost in the Vixen District of town and disappear into the noir perfection of her stunning pics.

In his Mag interview MV Boy lamjasonluv talked to us about the importance of "having good energy," and you can feel his power and energy leaping off the page in his photoshoot.

At ManyVids, we ask ourselves every day how we can make the world a more sexy, beautiful, and more interesting place. We know this collection of beautiful MV Stars will do just that.

SUBLIME

MONTREAL, CANADA

I. What do you consider some of the major achievements of your career?

I'm very proud of having inspired other women to follow in my footsteps with their own fetish modeling websites, and I feel I've had a positive influence on the mainstream in opening them towards fetishism in general as opposed as seeing it as the taboo it had been thought of for so many years. By doing so, I've helped others accept their own fetish, and not feel alone with their kink.

You got to picture the whole thing to fully understand what I mean. When I started my website Bianca's Latex Lair in 1997, the web was not as diversified and developed as it is today. Back then, fetish websites were scarce. I mean, the internet was literally 2 years old! I was the first model that devoted her entire web site to her latex fetish.

And while trying to make a living out of this very new business model from a taboo subject at the time, I had to face many prejudices. Many times, I had to fight hard to keep going. One of those times was when the university I used to attend discovered my website and threatened to fail me if I continued modeling. I fought them with all I had, but in the end, it was "close your site, or you're expelled."

That moment where I had to choose between a modeling career in erotica and fetish or a teaching career is still vivid in my mind. It was uncharted territory, I didn't have money, didn't have anyone to look up to figure out how to make it all work, let alone make a decent living from it.

That experience was one of those many times I had to question myself and see if this whole fetish modeling career mattered enough to go through facing judgment, and sometimes even hate. But I chose to fight for my latex and modeling passions, and never regretted it.

Today things are dramatically different. This is a new era now: less conservative, less judgmental, definitely more open-minded. Fetishists have many options thanks to the 'net. And my presence as the first online latex fetish model, and through the hundreds of interviews I have done on TV and in magazines, and websites have contributed to a better understanding and acceptance of fetish in our society.

I'm very proud of my publication portfolio, the hundreds of magazines I've been featured in throughout my 20-year career. Although my own business is on the web where my erotic/fetish modeling can reach so many people, I find that there is something quite special and unique with paper. The "paper magazine" industry is definitely not as strong as it used to be, pretty much replaced with e-zines and blogs. Because of this I feel even more honored that I had the chance to grace the cover of Playboy SE, Penthouse, Marquis, Bizarre, Naked, Secret. and so many others.

Unfortunately, many alternative magazines I graced the cover of eventually disappeared, such was the price of the new technology of the internet. It saddens me to see this industry fading away. In the end, a good old fashion erotic magazine or even a printed book looks so much cooler on a coffee table than on a tablet.

 yourself with talented & trustworthy people.

2. Why is your fan base so devoted to you?

Being the first latex fetish model on the web got me a lot of attention. I quickly gained momentum online, getting many alt magazine interviews, and an inflow of new fans, men and women alike, that soon became hooked to the imagery I produced. Year after year, I have been consistent with providing high-class latex and erotica photography. I also like to think that I am an approachable girl which is evident in my modeling but is also thanks to the time I allocate to my fans through my site, email and social media, and at various erotica events where I love meeting fans face-to-face. I think the fact that I'm approachable won me the respect and loyalty of many people who are now true fans.

3. What advice would you have to a new model entering the industry?

Do you know how many times women and even some men have asked me that very same question? The thing is from the outside, modeling looks like to be such a cool and easy job and hobby to do. So easy. After all, you just wear beautiful clothes and smile, right?! Well think again as modeling and succeeding at making a living out of it is way more complicated than it looks. I think the key to success is to surround yourself with talented and trustworthy people; they'll be the ones photographing and filming you, so it helps that the results look good and that you don't have to chase after your content!

I was lucky to team up with an amazing and talented photographer, webmaster, and video editor. Without my long-time partnership with Martin Perreault, this whole modeling career may never have seen the light and could have fallen apart. Together through the years, we have built a fun and robust career that thrived over two decades and counting.

The bright side is today, thanks to cell phones that can produce high-quality footage and thanks to websites such as ManyVids, both women and men can now give it a shot at becoming an erotic model. So now the real question that is left is what can you offer that is different than the others? Find your kink, your niche, the thing that makes you tick, just like I did years ago. What makes you special, unique, eccentric maybe? The challenge is bigger than ever because the web is now enormous. And remember that the fans can spot a fake very quickly. So, do it because you like it and then practice at becoming the best you can be.

4. What do you like about making your own content?

I am my own boss baby! Nobody can boss me around but myself! If I want to model more latex, I do. If I want to model more nudes, I do. And doing more explicit images lately is entirely a decision of mine. After 20 years, I am ready to explore a new world of fantasies and challenges. I choose what I film, what I wear, what I do in my vids. I am my own money maker and decision maker. I feel empowered by being an erotic/fetish model, but beyond that, I am a businesswoman, and proud to say a successful one at that!

5. What are some of your future goals?

This year marks my 20th anniversary of being a model and 10 years ago, I released a book about the first decade of my career. I believe it's now time to publish another book to mark my second decade. I also want to release a series of booklets about my modeling and photography. The fans really love them. I also wish to travel some more as when I do, I get the chance to create more outstanding and amazing videos. My next travel destination I hope will be Sicily, Italy, where I'd like to spend a few weeks this summer. My grandma was from that region, but I've never got the chance to visit. I feel that I need to see it to understand another part of me. Maybe my roots are simply calling me somehow, I don't know.

6. In your opinion what makes for a sexy & passionate vid?

I think being real in the vid is what makes it sexiest. My most significant assets are definitely my passion for latex, my big silicone boobies, and yes, my cutie-wootie face. Then comes the attitude, the fire, the personality I bring to my content. I'm alive and very much enjoying filming for my fans. I get turned on shooting these naughty vids, thinking how much I'm turning on the people watching me. And I believe the combo of being a natural seductress and also a sex maniac plays a massive part in my vids. I am not acting, I am living it!

I am not acting,

7. What's something you really really want your fanbase to know about you that they may not already know?

When I was a kid, I got bullied a lot because of my name. Yes, Bianca Beauchamp is my real name—unlike the majority of models in this industry, I kept my real name—and somehow the kids at school liked to pick on me for it. Bianca wasn't a very popular first name when I was in elementary school. One day my mom asked me if I would want to officially change it to my birth certificate's middle name. At that moment, I had to make a decision. Should I let the bullies win by changing my name to Stephanie, or should I fight back and go on in life as Bianca? You know what I chose. When I started modeling, I was considering using the name "Bianca Manneta" which was my grandma's maiden name. But the very first magazine I got published in didn't ask me which name to use, and when I told them, it was too late as the issue was already being printed with my full real name: Bianca Beauchamp. Did you know that Bianca is Italian for "white"? And Beauchamp actually means "pretty field" in French. So, in English my name translates to "White Prettyfield." If I ever start a professional porn career, that could perhaps become my porn star name? LOL! ;-)

1. What makes you, you?

An insatiable appetite for sex and doing good deeds, sometimes they even overlap.

2. What do you wish more people understood about the adult industry?

Anything that can be applied to pro-wrestling can be applied to the adult industry. It's got its ugly side, drama, high entertainer turn-over, but it's downright fun for the right people, and you have to enjoy putting on a show. Weak plot lines and silly costumes included.

3. How do you spend your downtime? What is the best way to relax?

My down time is spent trying new recipes, going to the gym, and boxing. I have a very active social life, and the best way to relax is an evening at the sex club with my friends.

4. When was the last time you were so turned on you could hardly stand it?

Almost every night before bed, it's part of my sleep routine!

5. Is there one person, dead or alive, who you would love to film a scene with? What would the video look like?

Asa Akira, no questions asked. Probably a cliché massage room type, I sometimes like it simple.

6. Where is your favorite place to visit? What makes it special?

My family has a cottage in Northern Ontario, Canada. I look forward to yearly visits spent kayaking, fishing, and just enjoying the cottage life with friends.

7. Can you tell us a joke?

The delivery is much better in person: What did Cinderella say when she got to the ball? "urkkk yackkk" (Continues blowjob gagging sounds).

8. What is one dream you haven't yet achieved?

I've yet to travel as extensively as I want to.

7. What are some of the good changes you've seen take place in the adult industry since you started?

There have been a lot more people coming into this and learning it is ok to be yourself, to be freaky, kinky, twisted, whatever you want to call yourself. To not be ashamed of who you are and who you are becoming.

8. What's your favorite way to relax after a long day?

I love to watch a movie with my wife, our dogs, and smoke.
